

October 26, 2004

To Whom It May Concern:

I am writing concerning the expansion of Low Power FM (LPFM) and how it would affect my family's radio choice. We love K-LOVE radio which we believe is a valuable service to our family as well as in our practice. It is a radio station we love to have on in our orthodontic office. We know we never have to worry about our young, impressionable patients hearing inappropriate commercials, comments or songs. In our small town, we receive no other stations that I can say the same about. If K-Love was forced off the air due to the expansion of LPFM expansion, it would be a huge blow! What could we listen to that would not offend or send the wrong message to the hundreds of young children, especially teenagers, that pass through our office weekly? I am asking reconsider your proposal allowing LPFM stations to take priority over current FM translator services. Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,

Mika Gerken